

Use Classes Order (UCO)

WHAT IS IT, WHY IS IT IMPORTANT AND HOW DOES IT AFFECT ME?

Like the General Permitted Development Order (GPDO), the Use Classes Order (UCO) was introduced to simplify planning and enable businesses and properties to change, within limited boundaries, without the need to apply for planning permission. The UCO breaks down the uses of land and buildings into four broad categories:-

- A Retail
- B Non retail and non residential business
- C Residential
- D Non residential institutions and venues
- Sui Generis Specific listed uses

Agriculture and forestry are outside this and any change of use from agriculture or forestry to any other use will require a planning application. The table below illustrates the different use classes in detail and the breadth of uses for each class. This is provided that a restriction on permitted development rights has not been placed on the property when planning permission was granted as sometimes planning permission will be for a particular type of use or user.
